

- A postgraduate-led, diamond open access journal for undergraduate and Master's STEM students

- Manuscripts are welcome from academic & summer projects, internships, Master's theses and more

- Enables students to gain valuable experience in the academic publishing process, develop vital skills, and prepare for future careers or PhDs in academia

- Following double-blind peer-review by PhD students, published articles receive professional formatting, DOIs, and indexing in scholarly databases

EDINBURGH

 Student Journal of Science

Manuscript Formats

Letters	2000 words, 2 visuals
Research Notes	4000 words, 4 visuals
Extended Reports	6500 words, 7 visuals

Submissions currently accepted from students at:

Not at these institutions but have exceptional research? Get in touch with us

Full criteria, guidelines and templates for submitting can be found on our website

- A postgraduate-led, diamond open access journal for undergraduate and Master's STEM students
- Manuscripts are welcome from academic & summer projects, internships, Master's theses and more
- Enables students to gain valuable experience in the academic publishing process, develop vital skills, and prepare for future careers or PhDs in academia
- Following double-blind peer-review by PhD students, published articles receive professional formatting, DOIs, and indexing in scholarly databases

Manuscript Formats

Letters	2000 words, 2 visuals
Research Notes	4000 words, 4 visuals
Extended Reports	6500 words, 7 visuals

As co-authors on papers, staff can encourage students who have excellent or novel research to present, or who wish to take their work further than is otherwise possible.

Submissions accepted from students at:
Universities of Edinburgh, Glasgow, Strathclyde, St Andrews
Edinburgh Napier, Heriot-Watt University, SRUC, and Queen
Margaret University

Full criteria, guidelines and templates for submitting can be found on our website